

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

ASAHI BROADCASTING GROUP HOLDINGS CORPORATION (security code: 9405)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A-

Rationale

- (1) ASAHI BROADCASTING GROUP HOLDINGS CORPORATION (the "Company") is a certified broadcasting holding company having subsidiaries including Asahi Television Broadcasting Corporation, which is a sub key station in Osaka belonging to ANN Network (TV Asahi Network), under its umbrella. Other subsidiaries include Asahi Radio Broadcasting Corporation (radio broadcasting), Sky-A, Inc. (CS broadcasting and TV program production), for the Broadcasting business, ABC Development Corporation, which operates housing exhibition halls, and ABC GOLF CLUB INCORPORATED operating golf courses. Under the current medium-term management strategy "NEW HOPE" (fiscal year ended March 2022 - fiscal year ending March 2026 / FY2021 - FY2025), the Company has been strengthening the Content and Lifestyle businesses aiming to become a "comprehensive content business group". Given the group's strong integrity in management, JCR reflects the group's overall creditworthiness in the Company's ratings.
- (2) In relation to starting dramas through the nationwide network, program expenses have been increasing resulting the profit level remaining low. In this regard, the burden is expected to decrease because the Company has already started reviewing the program expenses through selection and concentration of the content, and program creation reforms. In the previous fiscal year, the Content and At-home shopping businesses also placed downward pressure on profits; however, revenues are expected to improve because the Content business reviewed the unit price for receiving orders and the At-home shopping business reorganized the programming. Due partly to the effect of reduction in fixed costs through revising the retirement benefit plan, JCR views that the performance from FY2024 onward will be in the recovery trend after hitting the lowest. There still is some leeway to observe the future direction of the Company's performance because financial standing is favorable. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For FY2023, operating income substantially declined to 0.8 billion yen, down 67.9% over the year, due to sluggish spot revenue and weak performance of subsidiaries in the group. For FY2024, an operating income of 2.2 billion yen, up 164.2% over the year, is projected. Under continuing unforeseeable economic climate, attention needs to be paid to the fact that TV advertisement market is weakening, but the Company has been strengthening the program development suitable for viewer segments since the past, and now is seeing a certain degree of success such as share increase for the spot revenue in the stations in Osaka and others. The Content business reorganized the animation and live-action content areas aiming to maximize the revenue, and the At-home shopping business purchased shares of Eim. co., Ltd. to reinforce the EC business. The Company has been working on full check on the group companies and optimization of the business portfolio. JCR will check and determine the future progress in these initiatives and their revenue contribution status.
- (4) At the end of FY2023, the Company's financial conditions are stable as shown by the equity ratio of 59.3%, 56.6% at the end of FY2022, maintaining substantially debt-free status over the long-term and others. Although growth investments are expected to continue, the Company intends to sell cross-holding shares and idle assets to allocate the proceeds to funds required for the investments. JCR views that it will be able to maintain financial soundness into the future because its stance to maintain certain financial discipline remains unchanged.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
