Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd.

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SEIKA CORPORATION (security code: 8061)

<Affirmation>
Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

(1) SEIKA CORPORATION (the "Company") is a general machinery trading company having Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Ltd. ("MHI") and its group companies as main suppliers. It engages in sales and after-sales services of power plants and environmental equipment, electronic and measuring instruments. The Energy Business has established a robust business position assuming a sales agency operation of MHI's thermal / nuclear power generation plants mainly for power companies in western Japan. The Company also operates the Industrial Machinery Business that deals with production facilities for a variety of industries and the Product Business that handles highly competitive products in niche markets. Recently, it has been actively making business investments and acquired ASAHI SUNAC CORPORATION ("ASAHI SUNAC") that manufactures and sells coating equipment and others in December 2025 with an acquisition price of 18.8 billion yen.

(2) The Company's earning capacity is gradually improving. The core Energy Business is expected to continue to drive the performance expansion considering the power plant investment plan. Furthermore, it has been acquiring business rights and products through the business investments, and the business acquired recently has been contributing to its performance. On the other hand, financial structure has deteriorated along with acquisitions. That said, JCR believes it can maintain the current level of financial structure in light of the medium-term outlook for cash flow and profit accumulation. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with a Stable outlook.

(3) The Company expects profit growth of six fiscal years in a row, projecting an operating profit of 10.5 billion yen, a year-on-year growth of 30.8% for the fiscal year ending March 2027 (FY2026). In addition to steady performance of the Energy Business and Product Business, the Industry Machinery also expects profit growth due to a full-year contribution of ASAHI SUNAC. The Industry Machinery Business is working to improve profitability through narrowing down focused areas and strengthening the overseas bases, and JCR will watch the progress.

(4) Due to fundraising related to the acquisition of ASAHI SUNAC, equity ratio at the end of FY2025 declined to 27.3% from 36.3% a year earlier, and the Company turned into a net debt position. However, it can probably maintain a certain level of financial soundness since equity accumulation can be expected into the future underpinned by the steady performance. It is assumed that the Company will continue to actively make business investment, and JCR will closely watch the degree of impact of the investment on the financial structure.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
