

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

NEXTAGE Co., Ltd. (security code: 3186)

<Assignment>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) NEXTAGE Co., Ltd. (the "Company") is a major used car dealer founded in 1998. Initially established to specialize in the sale of imported cars, it is now expanding its operations to include the sale, maintenance and purchase of used cars. It not only sells vehicles and car accessories but also offers a variety of one-stop services to support customers throughout their life with cars, ranging from legal inspections, maintenance and vehicle safety inspections to car insurance, purchases and suggestions for their next car purchase. The number of stores as of the end of the fiscal year ended November 2023 (FY2022) was 295, including 80 general stores, 147 buy-back stores (including those attached to general stores) and 26 new car dealerships. The Company is newly opening general stores, which provide consistent services, while also increasing buy-back stores as its priority. Amid concerns about a decline in trust in the used car industry as a whole, it is striving to establish a system that will prevent inappropriate incidents from occurring in the first place, as part of which it abolished incentives in October 2023.
- (2) The Company has established a solid position as a major used car dealer by, for instance, setting up large stores and developing a comprehensive service system for automobiles. Both retail car sales and vehicle purchases are growing steadily. Profit per unit declined after incentives were abolished but is now picking up. The expansion of bases, including general stores, is expected to help absorb demand while responding to a wide range of customer needs and will probably lead to the enhancement of the earnings base going forward. The Company is working to improve its management structure by taking such measures as abolishing incentives and introducing a team system where each transaction is dealt by a team of people. JCR considers it vital for the Company to nurture and secure human resources while implementing these measures. The Company is likely to continue investments aimed at business expansion and yet will probably be able to maintain a certain level of the financial structure, owing partly to an increase in equity capital with profit accumulation. Comprehensively taking the above factors into account, JCR assigned a BBB+ rating to the Company and placed the Stable outlook.
- (3) With the increase mainly in general stores and buy-back stores, retail car sales and vehicle purchases have grown, resulting in constant business improvement toward FY2021. Net sales rose 10.8% over the year to 463.4 billion yen in FY2022, marking a new high thanks to new openings, an increase in vehicle purchases, etc. Operating profit on the other hand fell 17.3% to 16.0 billion yen partly because of a decline in profit per unit but nevertheless came to the second highest level ever. For FY2023, the Company expects to attain 545.0 billion yen in net sales and 20.0 billion yen in operating profit with year-on-year growth of 17.6% and 24.3%, respectively, which takes into account, among others, the expansion of the store network and the consequent increase in sales volume. After the abolition of incentives, ancillary businesses for accessories, financial products, etc. weakened, pushing down profit per unit, but showed signs of improvement in the first quarter of FY2023. JCR will watch whether the Company can nurture and secure human resources through such measures as changes to the evaluation system and improve sales volume and profit per unit at the same time.
- (4) As of the end of FY2022, equity ratio, debt-to-equity (D/E) ratio and net D/E ratio stood at 37.5%, 1.16x and 0.72x, as opposed to 34.9%, 1.36x and 1.01x a year before, respectively. Factors contributing to the improvement of financial indicators include the revision of product mix with focus on low-priced vehicles and a reduction in inventory value through the use of auto auctions in accordance with retail sales conditions. JCR assumes that the Company will make investments aimed at business growth going forward, including the expansion of its store network centering on general stores and buy-back stores. Given also that the Company continues inventory control in line with demand, it can probably maintain stability in the financial structure.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
