

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

OSG Corporation (security code: 6136)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) OSG Corporation (the "Company") is a major manufacturer of cutting tools. It manufactures taps for processing internal threads, as well as drills and end mills. Particularly, the Company has strength in cutting tools for finish processing where high accuracy is required. It has established a well-differentiated position in the industry underpinned by its high product development capability, ability to make proposals for processing methods, etc. Having bases in 33 countries around the world, the Company has an extensive global manufacturing, sales, and support system.
- (2) The Company maintains the robust business base for cutting tools for finish processing. Its performance has been on recovery from the COVID crisis. Being affected by the impact of production adjustment of automobiles, and others, sales of taps for general engineering, etc. are steady. Full-fledged performance recovery can be expected hereafter through recovery of the production activities of the auto industry, the Company's core target area. The financial structure is favorable, and JCR believes the Company will likely be able to maintain the robust financial conditions in the future as well. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company and retained the Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating profit for the fiscal year ending November 2022 (FY2022) is expected to be 20.2 billion yen (up 25.4% year-on-year). The Company expects to increase the profit contributed by the impact of sales volume expansion of cutting tools centering on taps, and other factors. JCR will continue watching the trend in auto production closely. Under the Medium-term Management Plan (FY2022 - FY2024), the Company intends to work on sales expansion of products for micro precision processing and energy industry, strengthening of the coating and tool reconditioning business, and others. JCR will monitor whether the Company will be able to further strengthen the earnings capacity.
- (4) The Company's financial structure is favorable as indicated by the equity ratio of 70.2% as of the end of the first quarter of FY2022 (68.6% as of the end of the previous fiscal year), and others. In addition, the Company was substantially debt-free at the end of FY2021. JCR views it will be able to maintain the sound financial base given the fact that capital expenditure for the time being will likely be within the amount of operating cash flow.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.
