

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SEINO HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 9076)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) SEINO HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (the "Company") is a pure holding company having Seino Transportation Co., Ltd., a major transportation company for consolidated deliveries, as its core subsidiary. Underpinned by the nationwide logistics network, it maintains high transportation quality. Given its strong unity with the group companies in various aspects including management, capital and financing, the rating reflects the overall creditworthiness of the Seino Group. It has made Mitsubishi Electric Logistics Corporation (currently MD LOGIS CORPORATION / "MD LOGIS") a consolidated subsidiary since October 2024.
- (2) In the Transportation Services Business, it has been absorbed the effects of cost increase and decline in the cargo volume by and large through strengthening the measures to receive fair prices for freightage. In the midst of continuing rising prices, full scale recovery in the cargo volume is difficult to expect, but JCR views that the performance will remain steady for the foreseeable future attributable to expansion of the logistics and chartered transportation businesses, and contribution of MD LOGIS in addition to continual cost control. Although the Company plans active logistics center-related investment, the amount is expected to be roughly within the operating cash flow. In March 2025, it acquired own stocks of 40.7 billion yen through a tender offer. Through this acquisition, financial structure will deteriorate, but it can probably maintain a relatively good level. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with a Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income is projected to increase 41.8% over the year to 33.1 billion yen for the fiscal year ended March 2025 (FY2024). Factors behind the increase are that the unit price is rising more than expected and effects of companies newly consolidated including MD LOGIS. For FY2025 and onward, the performance is expected to remain steady because the following can be expected: a full-year performance contribution of MD LOGIS; and continuing expansion of the logistics business actively using rental warehouses to raise the ability to respond to customer needs. Effects of increasing transportation efficiency through expansion of entrusted business with peers can also be anticipated.
- (4) Equity ratio was 55.0% as at the end of the third quarter of FY2024 as opposed to 62.4% as at the end of the previous fiscal year. Financial structure deteriorated due in part to the fundraising from external parties in relation to the acquisition of MD LOGIS. Furthermore, this ratio is expected to decline to around 50% as at the end of FY2024 because of the large-scale acquisitions of own stocks and other factors. While the Company is expected to more actively engage in returning profits to shareholders, financial structure will probably remain at around the level of end-FY2024 in the future as well on the back of high cash flow generation capacity.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large..

D) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

E) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

F) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
