Seven & i Holdings Co., Ltd. (security code: 3382)

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA

Shelf Registration: Preliminary AA

SEVEN-ELEVEN JAPAN CO., LTD. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

Issuer: Seven & i Holdings Co., Ltd.

- (1) Seven & i Holdings Co., Ltd. ("Seven & i HD") is a holding company that owns SEVEN-ELEVEN JAPAN CO., LTD. ("SEJ") for the domestic convenience store ("CVS") operations, 7-Eleven, Inc. ("SEI") and 7-Eleven International LLC ("7IN") for the overseas CVS operations, among others, under the umbrella. The group has strong unity, and the Company's ratings reflect the creditworthiness of the entire group. Ito-Yokado Co., Ltd., YORK BENIMARU CO., LTD., and others belonging to the food supermarket operations and specialty store & other businesses ("SST Business Group"), as well as Seven Bank, Ltd. in the financial services became equity method affiliates, forming a management structure focused on domestic and overseas CVS operations.
- (2) The environment surrounding the domestic and overseas CVS operations is difficult due to ongoing high prices, increases in raw material costs and SG&A costs. However, there is no significant change in the fact that Seven & i HD has built a solid business base, with the industry's largest store network both domestically and internationally. Measures, such as expanding the store network, strengthening the original product development, expanding sales and reducing costs, are being deployed, and future results are expected. Under the policy of enhancing shareholder returns, share buybacks are under way. On the other hand, as there is also a plan to proceed with debt repayment, it will likely be able to maintain a certain level of financial soundness going forward. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on Seven & i HD with Stable outlook.
- (3) At SEJ, same-store sales have stagnated in recent years, and recovering customer traffic has become a major challenge. In response, efforts are being made to strengthen relationships with customers and introduce new products. It is also working on continuously opening new stores and reinforcing cost control in domains such as, headquarters costs and store operations, which are expected to lead to earnings improvement. SEI continues its efforts on expanding fresh food and private-label products, increasing the number of stores with attached restaurants and those offering 7NOW delivery service, strengthening the gasoline business' profitability, and streamlining SG&A costs. Looking at monthly same-store sales of products in the U.S., the sales had been below the previous year, but have recently surpassed it. With cost reduction effects also anticipated, earnings are expected to improve. Aiming for global growth, 7IN plans to strengthen existing markets and expand business with Europe and others as priority markets. The progress of future business developments will be closely watched.
- (4) Over the fiscal year ended February 2031 (FY2030), in addition to operating cash flow, the funds raised through the deconsolidation of the SST Business Group and the IPO of SEI are planned to be allocated to stock returns, including the acquisition of treasury stock worth 2 trillion yen, growth investments such as new store openings, existing stores remodeling and bolt-on M&A, as well as debt repayment. Although the acquisition of treasury stock will be carried out in phases, these will likely lead to a deterioration in the financial structure. To maintain financial soundness, it is necessary to steadily carry out debt repayment. Promoting debt repayment is considered important for expanding strategic options for business growth. JCR will closely monitor its progress going forward.

Issuer: SEVEN-ELEVEN JAPAN CO., LTD.

- (1) SEJ is a core operating company of the group. Based on the judgement that SEJ's rating corresponds to the group's creditworthiness, it is the same as that of Seven & i Holdings.
- (2) SEJ is the largest operator in the domestic CVS industry, with total chain sales of 5.3 trillion yen (in FY2024), making it the largest chain in the retail industry. The number of domestic stores has reached 21,787 (as of the end of August 2025; including ones in Okinawa Prefecture operated by a subsidiary), having establishing a solid business base. The average daily sales per store remain at its higher level compared to other chains, indicating high competitiveness in quality.
- (3) In response to sluggish same-store sales, efforts are being made to enhance the brand image, continuously launch new products, expand the sales of freshly made products, and enlarge services the 7NOW delivery service, etc. By strongly advancing these initiatives, gradual results are expected to emerge in the competitiveness of existing stores. Additionally, there is a plan to increase the number of owners operating multiple stores. JCR will follow up on the trends of new store openings accompanying this.
- (4) The operating income for FY2025 is projected to be 215 billion yen, (8.0% year-on-year decrease), marking a decline for two consecutive terms. The background includes rising raw material prices and increases in SG&A costs such as land and building rent. It is also affected by the fact that same-store sales are anticipated to increase by only 0.9% year on year. In addition to promoting product/store strategies, it is working on the control of SG&A costs, such as land and building rent, maintenance and repair expenses and utility expenses. These measures will likely lead to earnings improvement going forward.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's financial grounds and/ or asset quality on some drastic change in its business bases.

C) Liquidity Risks

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's liquidity positions. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.
