

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Mitsubishi Electric Financial Solutions Corporation (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) Mitsubishi Electric Financial Solutions Corporation (the “Company”) is the only comprehensive finance company in the Mitsubishi Electric Group (the “Group”); and an equity-method affiliate of Mitsubishi Electric Corporation (“MEC”) and Mitsubishi HC Capital Inc. (“MHC”). Ratings reflect the relatively good operating base backed by the Company’s ties with the two shareholders, good asset quality and decent capital adequacy. While the Company faces the challenge of increasing the earning capacity, JCR predicts that ordinary income will remain solid for the time being. Moreover, given the degree of the shareholders’ control over and involvement in the Company and the Company’s managerial importance to the shareholders, the probability of support from the shareholders is also factored in the Company’s standalone creditworthiness.
- (2) Ordinary income has been staying low but stable in the lower 2 billion yen range. Operating assets remained steady in the fiscal year ended March 2024 (FY2023). An increase in credit costs due to vendor leasing-related factors was offset by growth in gross profit before deducting interest expenses. Interest expenses rose in the first half of FY2024 but still stayed at the level comparable to the same period a year before. Under the medium-term management plan launched in FY2024, the Company intends to optimize the business portfolio by transforming existing businesses and creating new ones and to improve productivity through business structure reforms leveraging digital technologies. Whether it can increase profitability while building up high-quality assets will be watched.
- (3) Assets are highly sound. Large borrowers are mostly those with high creditworthiness, such as the Group’s companies, and the amount of bad debts is kept at a low level. In vendor leasing, where the Company is focusing, delinquent receivables are increasing partly because many of the customers using kitchen equipment, the Company’s mainstay products, are small- and medium-sized restaurant-related business operators. That said, given that borrowers are diversified into small lots and that the Company takes a cautious credit stance and makes conservative provisions, JCR assumes that credit costs will remain within a range fully absorbable by periodic profit/loss.
- (4) Capital adequacy ratio excluding operating assets associated with factoring is just below 11%. JCR assumes that it can be maintained at around the current level for a while longer as the accumulation of retained earnings is foreseeable with credit costs and dividend payments being kept under control. In terms of financing, the Company has a stable indirect funding base centered on its main bank, MUFG Bank, Ltd. It also has direct channels including CP and the securitization of receivables, which indicates its efforts to diversify financing means.
- (5) MEC and MHC have a certain degree of control over and involvement in the Company. They each have a 45% stake in the Company, and the majority of the Company’s directors come from the two shareholders. As the Company engages in the factoring and loan businesses, centering on leasing related to the Group’s products and commercial distribution, its managerial importance can also be observed.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds.
