RICOH LEASING COMPANY, LTD. (security code: 8566)

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-

Shelf Registration: Preliminary AA-

CP: J-1+

Rationale

- (1) RICOH LEASING COMPANY, LTD. (the "Company") is a leasing company belonging to the Ricoh Group (the "Group") and an equity-method affiliate of RICOH COMPANY, LTD. and MIZUHO Leasing Company, Limited. It has strength in the small-amount lease and installment sales for SMEs. Transactions related to the RICOH through the Group's sales companies and distributors account for approximately 30% of the executed contracts volume and the amount of business investment. The ratings reflect the Company's standalone creditworthiness including stable earning capacity, sound assets, high capital adequacy, etc. The key to the rating decisions is whether the Company can improve the profit level with the diversification of earnings sources while maintaining financial soundness.
- (2) The Company's customer base mainly comprised by SMEs is sufficient with the number of customers reaching approximately 400,000 companies primarily for vendor leasing business. Under the medium-term management plan, the Company aims at continuing profit growth by, investing resources in the areas where there are greater business opportunities, while increasing the efficiency of existing businesses such as leasing. Therefore, active initiatives can be observed more often in the areas of real estate, environment and nursing care compared to the past. In addition to these, JCR will watch whether the Company can upgrade and expand the foundation of earnings through strengthening new services in the BPO field.
- (3) Business performance has been steady. In addition to the fact that executed contracts volume of leases and installment sales is in a recovery trend, investment in beneficial interest of logistics facilities have been growing and is driving the expansion of earnings. Furthermore, as a result of advancing the initiatives focusing on profitability, yield of new contract is continuing to improve. Certain attention needs to be paid to an increase in funding cost, but the Company will be able to secure stable profits for the foreseeable future as well because re-leasing fees are expected to increase. ROA based on ordinary profit is favorable compared to that of the major leasing companies, in upper 1% range, and JCR views that it can maintain high profitability into the future.
- (4) There are no particular concerns over the asset quality. Their soundness is maintained, backed by the portfolio that is well-diversified into small amounts, conservative credit decisions, receivables management and provisioning policy. Transactions related to real estate have been increasing, but they are appropriately managed and risk involved is held down by and large. Capital adequacy is good. Equity ratio as at the end of September 2024 was 17.0%, which is high among leasing companies, and is expected to remain almost flat for a while. As the Company has diverse financing bases, including corporate bonds and CP, in addition to indirect financing from a number of financial institutions, JCR finds no particular concerns about liquidity.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.
