

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Renault (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Foreign Currency Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Positive
Bonds: A-

Rationale

- (1) Renault (the Company) is one of the leading European car manufacturers based in France. The ratings are mainly supported by the Company's solid operating base in Europe, centering on France, its sustained and improving earnings strength and cash flow generation capacity promoted under its strategic plan, and the progress on cost reduction plan. With its continued strong performance, the Company's financial base has steadily improved as evidenced by a record Automotive net cash position (excluding sales financing). On the other hand, uncertainty is increasing in its core European market due mainly to rising geopolitical risks surrounding Iran. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings with Positive outlook. It will closely monitor the continuity of the Company's earnings strength and cash flow generation capacity going forward to be reflected on the rating, as appropriate.
- (2) The Company operates in more than 130 countries around the world, creating a geographically diversified production and sales structure. It has strength in the C & above segment and maintains a market share higher than 10% in its main European market. Thanks to the success of its EV& software and hybrid strategies, the sales mix of EVs and hybrids in 2025 rose to 14% and 30%, respectively. HEVs surpassed gasoline vehicles in new EU car registrations for the first time in the year, allowing the Company to retain its second-place market share in HEVs. Under its new strategic plan "futuREady," the Company plans 36 key launches by 2030, aiming for further electrification and international expansion while prioritizing profitability. It has set mid-term financial targets for an operating margin of 5-7% and Automotive free cash flow superior or equal to EUR 1.5 billion per year on average.
- (3) The Company posted a net loss of EUR 11.5 billion in 2025, due mainly to the change in the accounting treatment of its Nissan shares. However, excluding this one-off write-down, its performance was generally solid. Operating profit remained at EUR 3.6 billion, down 15% year-on-year, and the operating margin stood at 6.3%, roughly in line with its guidance. Looking ahead, JCR believes that the Company will be able to maintain its profitability and cash flow generation through its new strategic plan "futuREady" and cost reduction measures. On the other hand, rising geopolitical risks surrounding the Iranian situation are putting upward pressure on energy prices in Europe. If this situation persists, it could lead to a downturn in automotive demand through an economic slowdown. JCR will closely monitor their possible impact on the Company's performance.
- (4) The Company's financial structure is steadily improving, with its Automotive net cash position reaching a record high. Although the Company and Nissan amended their agreements to set minimum cross-shareholding at 10%, down from 15% in March 2025, the alliance framework remains in place on a contractual basis, and there will be no impact on existing partnerships or ongoing projects. JCR holds that the Company's financial soundness will be maintained through strict investment discipline, retention of a stable free cash flow, and the leverage of the partnerships.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. - The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
