

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Sankyo Tateyama, Inc. (security code: 5932)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Sankyo Tateyama, Inc. (the "Company") is a major sash manufacturer. The construction materials business, which handles its mainstay aluminum sashes, has strength in sales channels to distribution agents. The Company also engages in the materials business dealing in aluminum billets and extrusions, and the commercial facilities business dealing in fixtures, signages, etc. for retail stores. Through acquisition of aluminum businesses in Europe and Thailand in 2015, the Company expanded business overseas in earnest, but the global business continues to see losses.
- (2) The business environment remains difficult, with sluggish demand for new housing and aluminum bullion prices staying high. However, given the domestic business base, JCR sees that it will be able to secure a certain level of earning capacity. The Company is working on efforts to further strengthen the earnings base by expanding value-added product sales and reviewing the production structure. JCR will pay attention to the future progress. Although aggressive capital investments will likely continue, JCR expects that the Company will be able to maintain the current level of financial structure. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income for the fiscal year ending May 2025 (FY2024) is planned to be 3 billion yen (down 21.2% year on year). Domestically, this is due to the significant impact of rising material prices and increased logistics costs, and overseas, the weak sales of EV products, which the Company has been strengthening. In Europe, structural reforms have been underway since 2021, and additional rationalization measures such as personnel cuts will be implemented by reviewing the production structure. In Japan, the Company will proceed with consolidating products and production bases, fixed cost cutting and cost improvement. JCR will confirm whether these measures will enhance the earnings standing.
- (4) The equity ratio at the end of the third quarter of FY2024 was 32.5%, and given the relatively large earnings fluctuations, there is room for improvement in the financial structure. However, by controlling investments and others, the Company has maintained the current level of financials for a long time. Going forward, it plans to continue making aggressive capital investments, such as expanding extrusion lines and investing in environmental measures but will be able to keep controlling investments responding to its cash flow status, in JCR's view.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. - The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition.
