

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

NISSAN MOTOR CO., LTD. (security code: 7201)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) NISSAN MOTOR CO., LTD. (the "Company") forms a tripartite alliance with Renault S.A. and Mitsubishi Motors Corporation (security code: 7211). It is taking such measures as reducing fixed and variable costs and ensuring steady new product launches in line with the business plan. As part of the long-term vision released in April 2026, it announced its strategy for mobility intelligence, as well as the initiatives including the acceleration of development, reconstruction of the global market strategy that identifies Japan, the U.S. and China as leading markets, reduction in the number of models and discontinuation of low-profit models.
- (2) JCR assumes that, having bottomed out in the fiscal year ended March 2026 (FY2025), the Company's performance will start improving from here on thanks to successful cost reductions, etc., but to what extent will depend on the pace of sales recovery. Amid the challenging business environment, including concerns over the impact of the Middle East situation, how far the Company can improve its sales performance by, for instance, launching electric vehicles in the U.S. will be critical. JCR affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook in consideration of progress in the cost-cutting efforts, automotive net cash remaining at a decent level and other factors. As the Company aims to achieve profitability and positive free cash flow in the automotive business (excluding the impact of U.S. tariffs) in FY2026, as previously announced, JCR will keep an eye on progress in the efforts to that end, as well as progress in the reconstruction of the global market strategy and streamlining of business operations as spelled out in the long-term vision.
- (3) Even though U.S. tariffs are weighing on heavily, the Company managed to post 58.0 billion yen in operating income in FY2025 (69.8 billion yen in income for FY2024) thanks to the cost-cutting efforts but closed the year with 533.1 billion yen in net loss partly because of the recognition of structural reform expenses. It forecasts an operating income of 200 billion yen and net income of 20 billion yen for FY2026 and expects income growth to be driven mainly by a cut in variable costs and turnaround in sales.
- (4) Automotive net cash is maintained at a decent level, topping 1.1 trillion yen as of the end of FY2025, as opposed to a bit below 1.5 trillion yen a year before. It is expected to exceed 1 trillion yen at the end of FY2026, but in any event attention will be paid to the improvement of automotive free cash flow.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
