

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

GAW Capital Partners (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Foreign Currency Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) GAW Capital Partners (GCP) is a private equity fund management company engaged in the acquisition, redesign and re-positioning, sale and management of land and buildings, and management of private equity funds in a wide range of real estate properties including retail facilities, commercial offices, residential development, hospitality, logistics warehouses and data centers primarily in Asia Pacific. The rating reflects GCP's presence in the Asian market, trust from its leading investors, ability to generate stable cash flow mainly from fund management fee income, and sound financial structure backed by conservative financial management. On the other hand, the rating is constrained by the instability of the real estate market in China and Hong Kong. GCP focuses on acquiring prime existing properties, achieving value enhancement, and holding and selling them. GCP has succeeded in diversifying its portfolio and through strategic selection of investments while limiting the burden of development risk, and keeping good performance of the portfolio even under tough environment such as deterioration in the real estate market condition. JCR, therefore, has assessed the rating outlook to be Stable.
- (2) GCP was founded in 2005 by current Chairman Mr. Goodwin Gaw and current President Mr. Kenneth Gaw with its registered office in Cayman Islands, its headquarters in Hong Kong and 15 offices across the globe. The company boasts a global presence in the real estate industry, ranking 2nd in Asia and 11th in the world in terms of fundraising. Assets under its management were valued at USD35.9 billion as of end-2023. Geographically, 85% of them were located in Asia, 10% in the U.S. and 5% in Europe, indicating that the company does business primarily in Asian countries. Its fee income, calculated based on the AUM, is stable and is sufficient to repay debt repayments after covering operational expenses borne. It has established strong cooperative relationships with leading sponsors around the world, including sovereign wealth funds in the Middle East and Asia, pension funds, insurance companies, universities, and others, and uses the funds it raises for its investments. GCP itself invests about 2% as a GP and keeps its risk burden in each project limited by diversifying its investments in terms of both countries and sectors.
- (3) Private equity funds currently under management include the flagship Gateway Fund I-VII, the funds in the US, Hospitality Funds for the hotels, a Growth Equity Fund to invest to growth business. In addition, GCP provides services for credit investments and separate account investments. Its affiliated and operating partners include People's Place, an asset management platform specialized in commercial and retail assets in Hong Kong; GCP Hospitality, which manages 39 hotels with 7,500 rooms globally; Fingen, an Italian-based firm to operate luxury malls in Asia; and an financial service company for private capital markets in Asia Pacific; as well as data center and logistics warehouse operators. These companies have successfully created synergies by demonstrating their ability to attract customers.
- (4) The Gateway Fund, has launched seven funds with co-investments since 2006. As of the end of 2023, the Gateway Funds have invested in 104 projects investing in the sectors such as retail, office, residential, logistics, hospitality, data centers and life science. One of the crucial points is whether GCP has built a financial structure that does not hinder debt redemption even in the event of a sudden deterioration in the real estate market where it cannot complete and sell its initially planned investment properties. In this respect, the company has successfully strengthened its competitiveness by diversifying its portfolio through strategic selection of projects. The financial structure has a corresponding stability.
- (5) The assets recorded on the GCP's balance sheet are investments as GPs to the affiliated private equity funds, and the liability side is also limited to borrowing bridge funds necessary to temporarily acquire co-investors' investments on their behalf; borrowing to implement investments by the affiliated funds is non-recourse to GCP. GCP was in a net cash position taking into account of its interest-bearing bond privately placed in the U.S. in January 2022 and a revolving credit facility, with its gross debt-to-equity ratio and debt-to-EBITDA ratio standing low at 0.16x and 0.829x, respectively as of end-2023.

- (6) Immediate points of focus include the impact of changes in the macro environment on business activities, progress in leasing development projects, relationships with co-investors, and the implementation status of property sales. Considering the quality of assets in the company's business portfolio and the diversification of its GP investments, the likelihood of significant impairment risk is low, but possible impact from changes in macro factors, such as further deteriorating real estate market conditions, should be kept in mind. JCR holds that the GCP's solid track records in a wide range of sectors including retail facilities, commercial offices, logistics warehouses, data centers and life science and strong cooperative relationships with co-investors have been serving as the base to exhibit its resilience in the performance of the portfolio even in the downtrend of the macro environment. The recurring fee income backed by the AUM guarantees the basic solvency of its debt. The rating is based on the assumption that its stable AUM growth will be secured in the future and the fee incomes will remain stable. If the stable growth of AUM supported by high-quality portfolio and risk diversification through GP investments become difficult, those will be incorporated into the future rating.

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.
