

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Tokyo Infrastructure Energy Investment Corporation (security code: 9285)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Tokyo Infrastructure Energy Investment Corporation (the “Corporation”) is a listed infrastructure fund established in October 2017 and mainly sponsored by the ADVANTEC Group (the “Group”). Factors supporting the rating include: i) stable cash flow backed by the feed-in tariff system for renewable energy; ii) good cash flow generation capacity of portfolio assets despite concentration on certain power stations, and conservative financial management policy; iii) ability to utilize expertise in development and operation related to the solar power generation business the Group has accumulated; and iv) the fact that invested assets at present consist only of solar power stations and their operational burdens are small compared to other renewable energy power generation facilities. Looking ahead, it will be vital for the Corporation to ensure the growth and continue the prudent management of investment assets while maintaining financial soundness.
- (2) The Corporation owned 23 power generation facilities with the total panel output of 69.8 MW and total acquisition price of 29.1 billion yen as at the end of September 2025. Theft of cable occurred in some power generation facilities, but the impact on the overall performance is limited because the Corporation has been strengthening crime prevention measures and the operation status is generally good. DSCR has been staying at a level with some leeway to violating the covenants, and the Corporation has been steadily redeeming debts. Total asset-based LTV as at the end of the fiscal period ended June 2025 was conservative standing at 45.8% and financial soundness remaining at a good level.
- (3) The Corporation’s main sponsor, ADVANTEC CO., LTD. (“ADVANTEC”), has been developing and operating solar power stations while providing vacuum equipment to semiconductor production equipment manufacturers as its original business. ADVANTEC’s wholly owned subsidiary, COOL TRUST CO., LTD. (“COOL TRUST”), directly owns the Corporation’s investment units and takes responsibility of operating and maintaining all the facilities held by the Corporation. COOL TRUST advanced additional acquisition of the Corporation’s investment units and increased the investment ratio from 3.60% as at the end of the fiscal period ended December 2024 to 11.69% as at the end of the fiscal period ended June 2025 indicating the sponsor’s intention to support the Corporation more clearly. Facility operation on the strength of ADVANTEC and COOL TRUST’s expertise is expected to continue into the future.
- (4) The Corporation had the pipeline of 26 facilities with 136.9 MW as at the end of September 2025. It intends to keep acquiring facilities developed by the sponsor as well as those from third parties to achieve growth while maintaining financial soundness. The sponsor appears to have accumulated know-how as to facility development and examination of third-party facilities, which suggests that the Corporation is most likely to achieve business expansion by appropriately selecting properties. JCR will keep an eye on progress in the Corporation’s growth strategies and impacts of including individual facilities will have on the portfolio.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that the issuer might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, climate change, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
