

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

KPP GROUP HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 9274)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating:	A-
Outlook:	Stable
Bonds:	A-
CP:	J-1

Rationale

- (1) KPP GROUP HOLDINGS CO., LTD, (the “Company”) is the holding company of the KPP Group, which engages in the wholesaling businesses of paper and paperboard, paper manufacturing materials, packaging related products, and other products in and outside Japan. The Company wholly owns 100% of the shares of its major subsidiaries, including Kokusai Pulp & Paper Co., Ltd. (“Kokusai Pulp & Paper”), a leading paper distributor in Japan, Antalis S.A.S.(“Antalis”), which oversees its European operations, and Spicers Limited (“Spicers”), which oversees its Oceania operations. Given the group’s strong unity, JCR reflects the creditworthiness of the entire group in the ratings on the Company. Kokusai Pulp & Paper deals widely with leading domestic paper manufacturers and has a stable customer base primarily in the publishing and printing-related industries. Having acquired Australia’s Spicers in 2019 and Antalis, the largest paper trading company in Europe, in 2020, the Company has become one of the world’s largest specialized trading companies in paper and pulp by sales.
- (2) The transformation of the Company’s business portfolio is progressing steadily. While global demand for graphic paper continues to decline, the Company is expanding its business base in growth areas such as packaging and visual communication, leveraging M&A as well. The Company is expected to maintain a certain level of profitability going forward, supported by the expansion of growth areas and the ongoing penetration of price revisions. The Company continues to pursue aggressive M&A, and attention should be paid to the debt burden associated with investments, as well as increases in goodwill and intangible assets. However, the Company intends to proceed with investments while giving due consideration to financial soundness, and its stable financial base is likely to be maintained. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with a Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating profit for the fiscal year ending March 2027 (FY2026) is projected to increase to 11.0 billion yen, up 9.2% year on year. In addition to earnings contributions from acquired companies, the penetration of price revisions in the domestic market is expected to have a positive impact. JCR expects the Company’s business performance to remain resilient from FY2027 onward, driven by the expansion of packaging and visual communication and improved profitability in existing businesses. However, demand for graphic paper continues to decline, while labor and logistics costs, among others, continue to rise. In addition to continued price pass-throughs, JCR will closely monitor whether the Company can steadily translate cost structure optimization, particularly in Europe, and earnings contributions from acquired companies into profit growth.
- (4) The equity ratio stood at 22.4% as at the end of the first quarter of FY2026, as opposed to 23.5% a year before. Interest-bearing debt increased following the reacquisition in June 2026 of the trust beneficial interest associated with the land of the KPP Yaesu Building, which had been transferred in 2021. Furthermore, since FY2025, the Company has executed nine M&A transactions and has been steadily implementing the 50 billion yen of growth investments planned under its Medium-Term Management Plan, while also enhancing shareholder returns. Although the financial burden has increased, the equity ratio remains within the 20% to 25% range set forth in the Medium-Term Management Plan. JCR will continue to assess whether the Company can translate the benefits of its investments into earnings and cash flow, appropriately manage the scale of investments, and maintain disciplined financial management.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's financial grounds and/ or asset quality on some drastic change in its business bases.

C) Liquidity Risks

The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
