

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

NISSAN FINANCIAL SERVICES CO., LTD. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) NISSAN FINANCIAL SERVICES CO., LTD. ("NFS") is a domestic sales finance company under NISSAN MOTOR CO., LTD. ("NISSAN"). It engages in the credit, leasing and car-life businesses. JCR deems NFS's long-term issuer rating to be at the same level as the NISSAN Group's creditworthiness. NISSAN holds 100% voting rights in NFS and sends directors to the latter. Their unity in terms of managerial decision-making and business administration is strong, and the degree of NISSAN's involvement in NFS is high. Moreover, NFS supports NISSAN's sales by providing financial services and is thus managerially highly important to NISSAN. On top of these, the keep-well agreement NISSAN has concluded with NFS includes provisions for maintaining capital and supplementing liquidity for NFS, which shows NISSAN's willingness to support NFS.
- (2) NFS has a certain level of market position and competitiveness, backed by NISSAN's new car sales capacity. However, it is currently seeing a decline in the transaction volume not only in the credit business but also in the leasing and car-life businesses mainly because of a fall in NISSAN's domestic new car sales. NISSAN is aiming to boost these sales, and JCR will watch whether such efforts will lead to a turnaround in the transaction volume for NFS.
- (3) Earnings capacity is relatively good. Thanks to such earnings sources as the leasing and car-life businesses, in addition to recurring revenue from the credit business, profits are highly stable. Profitability measured by ROA, etc. also remains at a high level. However, the impact of the decline in NISSAN's domestic new car sales is not insignificant, resulting in a slight fall in the profit level. JCR will monitor whether NFS can maintain a certain level of profits by accumulating operating assets while accurately identifying changes in customer needs.
- (4) Assets are highly sound. Operating assets are primarily auto credit receivables diversified into small amounts. Credit management policy is prudent, and credit risk exposure is small. Bad debt-related expenses remain low relative to operating assets. Even though NFS is exposed to residual value risk because its mainstay product is residual value credit, JCR finds no concerns about how such risk is being managed.
- (5) Capital adequacy is satisfactory. Although retained earnings are not accumulating due to large dividends paid to the parent company, equity ratio adjusted by JCR is high, and a sufficient capital margin relative to risks is secured. There is not much concern about liquidity. In terms of indirect financing, NFS makes stable transactions with financial institutions, in addition to group financing. It also has various financing means including corporate bonds and receivables securitization.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease.
