

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Shinkin Securities Co., Ltd. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Shinkin Securities Co., Ltd. (the “Company”) is a securities company specialized in wholesaling, which was established with 100% investment from Shinkin Central Bank (“SCB”). While meeting the needs of shinkin banks across Japan for fund management, it also assumes the role of providing appropriate investment products to shinkin banks. Having them as main customers, it primarily engages in the underwriting and trading of public and corporate bonds and the sale of investment trusts. SCB’s involvement in the Company is strong in terms of capital, business administration, risk management, financing and so forth. Given also the Company’s managerial importance as SCB’s group company, as indicated by its role of complementing the shinkin industry’s operations such as surplus fund management, JCR deems the Company’s rating to be at the same level as SCB’s.
- (2) The Company has strength in its customer base, which mainly comprises shinkin banks around the nation. In underwriting operations, while the amount underwritten tends to sway depending on the bond market conditions, it has been consistently securing transactions, for which it plays the lead manager. As for ETFs, it has been expanding the number of customers centering on shinkin banks, thereby steadily increasing the number of transactions and the execution amount. On the other hand, in response to rising interest rates in Japan and other factors, both the amount sales and the balance of investment trusts are in a downward trend due in part to the clear trend of shinkin banks shifting their investment target to yen-denominated bonds. Amid the midst of changing interest rate environment, the Company intends to work on offering products and services that meet investment needs of shinkin banks through strengthening the cooperation with SCB to acquire revenue opportunities.
- (3) Although proportion of stable revenue is relatively large as shown trust fee of investment trusts accounting for the middle of 30% of net operating revenue, the profit level is low because of the Company’s small business size as a securities company. Since the fiscal year ended March 2024 (FY2023), revenue from the securities investment has been supporting the ordinary income while net operating revenue is in a downward trend. For the first half of FY2025, the operating profit was in the red following the large deterioration in trading profit and loss in relation to position management in the phase of rising interest rates in addition to decrease in trust fees and revenue of the underwriting operation. While ordinary income was in the black due to an increase in revenue from investments, caution is required for the trends for the foreseeable future because drop in trust fees, a main source of revenue, is large and also SG&A expense is in an uptrend due to system investment and others. JCR will pay attention to whether it will be able to mitigate the downward pressure on profits through capturing new revenue opportunities by strengthening cooperation with SCB and securing revenue from investment by taking advantage of interest hikes.
- (4) Capital adequacy is good. Since the Company was given a large amount of capital at the time of foundation to ensure to continue business in a stable manner, the capital adequacy ratio was high, standing at 1,333% as at the end of September 2025. Trading is primarily based on customer flow, and risks have been held down due partly to the effects of hedge contracts. While the balance of investment securities is increasing, there are no concerns over the risk control as they are mostly JGBs and high-rated corporate bonds, and interest rate risk is also kept low relative to capital. In terms of fundraising, JCR finds no concerns about liquidity as sufficient credit facilities are provided by SCB.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
