

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SCREEN Holdings Co., Ltd. (security code: 7735)

<Rating Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: from BBB+ to A-
Outlook: Positive

Rationale

- (1) SCREEN Holdings Co., Ltd. (the "Company") is the world's largest manufacturer of semiconductor cleaning equipment. It boasts high market shares for such products as single wafer cleaning equipment for cleaning wafers one by one and batch-type cleaning equipment for processing multiple wafers at a time. It also offers coater/developers, etc. in the semiconductor production equipment business. While operating other businesses, including FPD production equipment, printing-related equipment and PCB-related equipment, it relies heavily on the semiconductor production equipment business for earnings.
- (2) Earnings are on an expanding trend. Having shifted the focus of management to profitability, efficiency and cash flows, the Company enjoys a positive growth cycle from various measures such as determination of equipment specifications at an early stage in the semiconductor production equipment business. The Company is steadily improving profitability even when it is facing difficulties in procuring parts and materials, increasing its cash flow generation capacity by restraining working capital. The Company is also strengthening the financial base by, for example, expanding capital and converting it to net cash. Based on the above, JCR has upgraded the rating on the Company by one notch and continued placing Positive outlook. If the equity capital seems to keep increasing at a rapid pace going forward, JCR will consider upgrading.
- (3) For the fiscal year ended March 2022 (FY2021), the Company plans to post a record-high operating income of 54.5 billion yen (2.2x the previous fiscal year), and the operating income margin is expected to improve to 13.3% (7.6% in the previous fiscal year). As demand for semiconductors expands from electronic devices such as PCs and smartphones to infrastructure such as data centers, the COVID-19 pandemic is accelerating digitization of the society and industry. Against this backdrop, demand for equipment by semiconductor manufacturers and foundries is strong, of which trend will likely continue in FY2022. Given the structural change of the semiconductor industry and the improvement of the Company's structure, among others, concern that the Company's performance may excessively fall as before has become small.
- (4) With equity capital expanding through accumulation of periodic income, etc., the equity ratio as of the end of FY2020 improved to 54.5% (50.0% at end-FY2019). In addition, thanks to an increase in the cash flow generation capacity, the Company is assumed to maintain the net cash also at end-FY2021. Capital investment is expected to increase in FY2022 due in part to the investment in a new factory, but the Company will likely be able to maintain a certain level of liquidity on hand after promoting the reduction of interest-bearing debt.

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
