

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

THE DAITO BANK, LTD. (security code: 8563)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) THE DAITO BANK, LTD. (the "Bank") is a regional bank II headquartered in Koriyama City, Fukushima Prefecture with a fund volume of approximately 800 billion yen and is one of the top three banks in the prefecture in terms of both fund volume and loan balance. Factors supporting the rating include the evaluation of the relatively high capital level and well-secured loan assets. Profitability and a substantive capital level have declined, but are maintained superiority among the regional financial institutions in JCR's BBB rating categories.
- (2) Core net business income (excluding gains and losses on cancellation of investment trusts; the same applies hereafter) has largely grown after hitting the latest bottom in the fiscal year ended March 2019 (FY2018), driven by expense reductions and growth of interest on loans. Although it fell from that of year before for the first half of FY2024, but ROA based on this income was at a decent level, around 0.25%. It is highly likely that it will decrease also on a full year basis attributable to decrease in fees and commissions stemming from reviewing insurance sales and upfront increase in interest on deposits. On the other hand, loan yields have improved because of the initiatives focusing on yields, and rising yen market interest rates. JCR views that core net business income will remain steady for the foreseeable future supported by interest on loans.
- (3) Non-performing loans ratio under the Financial Reconstruction Act as at the end of September 2024 was high, standing at 4.08%, and is continuing to rise. This is attributable to the increased number of borrowers reclassified in lower categories on the backdrop of an increase in the number of bankruptcies, but the ratio of categorized assets continues to be at a low level as many of credits are secured by guarantees from credit guarantee associations. JCR assumes that credit costs will remain within the range that can be comfortably absorbed by core net business income, helped also by the loan portfolio that is well-diversified into small amounts, etc.
- (4) The Bank's exposure to interest rate risk associated with bond holdings is not small relative to capital. However, it is reducing the bond exposure and also making progress in replacement in response to rising market interest rates at home and abroad. Available-for-sale securities are in a state of valuation loss, but JCR views the impact on the financial side will remain limited.
- (5) Consolidated core capital ratio adjusted for valuation loss on available-for-sale securities and others was just under 9% as at the end of September 2024. It has declined from the previous levels due to enhancement of the balance of loans, increased risk-weighted assets associated with replacement of securities portfolio, and valuation loss on available-for-sale securities, it is still good in BBB rating categories.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.
