

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

The Kiyo Bank, Ltd. (security code: 8370)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+

Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) The Kiyo Bank, Ltd. (the "Bank") is a regional bank headquartered in Wakayama City, Wakayama Prefecture with a fund volume of 4.7 trillion yen. It enjoys a large market share for deposits and loans in the prefecture and also secures a certain share in economically strong Osaka Prefecture, especially in the southern part, thanks to its own sales efforts there from early on. The rating reflects the robust business base in the local area, relatively good earning capacity, decent capital level and others.
- (2) Core net business income (excluding gains/losses on cancellation of investment trusts / the same applies hereinafter) is on an uptrend, and ROA based on this income was at a relatively good level, a little over 0.4% for the first half of the fiscal year ending March 2025 (FY2024). The Bank's efforts to strengthen the business transactions with SMEs have been producing positive outcome and growth of interest on loans and fees and commissions drove the profit growth. Expenses, which had been on a downward trend, have turned upward since FY2023. Going forward, they are expected to remain high due to an increase in personnel costs associated with an employee compensation improvement and system-related expenses. That said, JCR views that the core net business income will remain steady contributed by an increase in interest on loans on the back of growth the balance of lending and rising domestic interest rates.
- (3) Soundness of loan assets has been maintained. Both of ratio of non-performing loans disclosed under the Financial Reconstruction Act, and a classification rate relative to the total credits are at levels, which do not give a rise of concern. Credit costs have been kept low over the long term. Since the Bank has extended considerable amount of credits to middle-risk borrowers, business conditions of borrowers needs to be closely watched. However, JCR views that credit costs will remain in the range that can comfortably be absorbed by core net business income.
- (4) In securities investment, the Bank has not taken excessive risk. Interest rate risk exposure relative to capital is not excessive, and exposure to price fluctuation risk is also kept at an acceptable level. Valuation gains and losses on available-for-sale securities is in a state of valuation losses due to the impact of rising domestic interest rates, but JCR sees this is manageable given the levels of core net business income and equity capital.
- (5) Consolidated equity ratio was a little over 12% as at the end of September 2024. The core capital ratio adjusted for valuation losses on available-for-sale securities is at a decent level also considering the impact of full implementation of Basel III finalization. Since stable accumulation of retained earnings can be expected, JCR views that capital adequacy ratio will remain at around the present level, but will monitor the pace of increase in risk-weighted assets and trends in returning profits to shareholders.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
