

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Hanwha Japan CO., LTD. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Hanwha Japan CO., LTD. (the Company) is a consolidated subsidiary wholly owned by Hanwha Corporation, a core company of the Hanwha Group (the Group). In recent years, the Company has expanded its business with solar module sales as a growth driver, but it intends to focus its management resources on the electric power business as its future core while maintaining stable operations in the existing businesses such as chemicals and solar energy-related businesses. JCR holds that the Group's creditworthiness is equivalent to A in consideration of its profitability based on a strong business foundation in Korea and diversified business portfolio. JCR strongly incorporates the Group's creditworthiness into the Company's rating. As there have been no material changes in the degrees of the Group's control and involvement and the importance of the Company in its management, JCR has affirmed its rating with Stable outlook.
- (2) The Hanwha Group, the seventh-largest conglomerate in Korea, consists of Hanwha Life Insurance, Hanwha Solutions and Hanwha Aerospace under Hanwha Corporation. The Group has built a strong business foundation in Korea focused on finance, explosives, chemicals and solar energy. JCR evaluates the Group's earnings capacity supported by a diversified portfolio. The Group's performance has been relatively stable despite some divisional differences. In FY2023, it reported sales of KRW 53.1 trillion (approximately JPY 5.9 trillion, up 4% year-on-year) and operating profit of KRW 2.4 trillion (approximately JPY 267 billion, up 2%), registering gains in both sales and profit, with no material changes in its financial balance.
- (3) The Company plays a central role in Hanwha Corporation's business in Japan. In business aspects, it is indispensable as a sales network for the existing businesses and as the sole base for the Group's electric power business in Japan. Its strategic importance is high. In personnel aspects, it has strong relations with Hanwha Corporation as its president, auditors and other senior managers are seconded from the parent company. In terms of capital, Hanwha Corporation guarantees most of its interest-bearing debt. JCR believes that the Company can expect to have support from its parent when necessary, given its track records of capital injection in the past.
- (4) The Company's performances in recent years have been affected by the heavy burden of operating expenses in the electric power business as well as by market fluctuations in the chemical and solar-related businesses. In FY2023, it posted lower sales and higher profits, with net sales of JPY 50.8 billion (down 12% year-on-year) and operating income of JPY 0.7 billion (up 66%). From a financial perspective, the Company's financial burden is expected to remain heavy until FY2024 due to the concentration of management resources in the electric power business. However, its financial balance is expected to improve from FY2025 onward as it plans to reduce its interest-bearing debt by considering asset-based financing and securing investment returns.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.
