

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AAAP

Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD) is a multilateral development bank (MDB) established in 1991. It supports the transition to market-based economies and provides loans and equity investments, mainly to the private sector, in Central and Eastern Europe, Central Asia and the southern and eastern Mediterranean countries. The rating is based on the strong support the Bank enlists from its members, its strong capital base and its status as a preferred creditor. EBRD plans to expand the geographical scope of its operations to sub-Saharan countries and Iraq in the future. In addition, further capital needs are expected once the reconstruction of Ukraine begins in earnest. In anticipation of future support needs, the shareholders have been preparing the necessary capital by deciding to increase its capital by EUR 4 billion. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating with Stable outlook.
- (2) EBRD's shareholders consist of 73 countries including developed countries, Central and Eastern Europe and CIS countries, and two institutions, the European Commission and the European Investment Bank. In April 2024, the Republic of Benin became the first sub-Saharan African country to join its shareholders. At the end of 2023, its subscribed capital stood at around EUR 29.8 billion, of which paid-up capital accounted for about 20%. Its capital base is strong as a high proportion of its callable capital has been pledged by creditworthy developed countries and international organizations. The Bank plans to expand its area of operations in a limited and incremental manner to sub-Saharan African countries and Iraq, and is planning to invest in up to six sub-Saharan African countries from 2025 onwards. It has provided approximately EUR 3.8 billion in assistance to Ukraine since the Russian invasion. The shareholders approved an increase of its authorized capital from EUR 30 billion to EUR 34 billion in December 2023, considering future support needs for Ukraine and other factors. The capital increase is to take effect on December 31, 2024. The additional 4 billion capital will be paid in through 4 equal annual installments from 2025.
- (3) Since the Bank's investments and loans are mainly focused on the private sector of countries in economic transition, such as energy and infrastructure-related projects, risks for the assets it holds are relatively high as compared to those of other MDBs. Its NPL ratio rose from 4.9% at the end of 2021 to 7.9% at the end of 2022, due to factors such as Russia's invasion of Ukraine, staying unchanged at the end of 2023. However, losses from loan write-offs remain low. The Bank, like other MDBs, does not aim to maximize profits and one of its financial targets is to maintain a sound financial base and secure profits necessary to promote its business. Its financial performance is volatile as the market value of the shares it holds is reflected on its net profits. In 2022, it had a net loss of EUR 1.1 billion due to a EUR 1.4 billion loan-loss provision and a EUR 1.2 billion loss from share revaluation. However, it registered a net profit of EUR 2.1 billion in 2023 due in part to a recovery of share revaluation. As a result, its total equity recovered to a record high level.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as member countries, the issuer's related organizations, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

- The information used for the determination of credit rating as herewith presented is obtained by JCR from the issuer of rated objects and other sources that JCR trusts in terms of accuracy and reliability but possibly contains errors due to human, non-human or other causes. Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events
