

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

DL Life Partner REIT Inc. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-

Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) DL Life Partner REIT Inc. ("DLPR") is an unlisted open-ended investment corporation. It embodies the corporate brand message of Daiichi Life Group, Inc. ("DLG"), "By your side, for life" and DLPR invests in residential properties and QOL-enhancing assets (a generic term for daycare centers, lifestyle-related commercial facilities, medical facilities, healthcare facilities, etc.). The current shareholder of Dai-ichi Life Realty Asset Management Co., Ltd. ("DLR"), an asset management company, is Daiichi Life Marubeni Real Estate Co., Ltd. ("DMRE"), which is a joint venture between DLG and Marubeni Corporation ("Marubeni") each holding a 50% stake. The ownership of DLR is 70% held by DMRE and 30% by SOHGO HOUSING CO., Ltd ("SOHGO HOUSING"). Its current portfolio consists of 116 properties with a total acquisition price of 190.1 billion yen.
- (2) DLPR has steadily increased its capital since its launch, and its asset size has expanded steadily as a result of property acquisitions leveraging sponsor support and its own unique sourcing channels. With regard to leasing operations, the overall occupancy rate across the portfolio has been maintained at 95% or higher, and significant rent increases have also been achieved, supported by a favorable market environment. Given such a track record and a well-diversified portfolio, along with the expectation that DLG's experience and know-how in the real estate business will continue to contribute going forward, JCR believes that stable cash flow generation is achievable. On the financial front, sound financial management continues, including stable leverage control. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on DLPR with Stable outlook.
- (3) In July 2025, DLG integrated its domestic real estate business with Marubeni. Going forward, it is expected to strengthen its business base by building a robust real estate value chain centered on its asset management business and to achieve further external growth through pipeline expansion. The sponsor support agreements among Daiichi Life Insurance Co., Ltd., SOHGO HOUSING, and DLPR remain in effect, and such support is expected to continue for both external and internal growth. The know-how of DLG's real estate business and the track record accumulated over several decades are expected to underpin the stable management of DLPR. In addition, JCR will monitor initiatives to enhance the value of exclusive-use areas to maintain and improve the competitiveness of its properties.
- (4) On a total asset basis, LTV had generally been controlled in the lower 40% range but has recently risen somewhat due to debt-financed property acquisitions. DLPR contains the risk of a sharp increase in LTV by limiting the number of investment units to be refunded in one fiscal period, in principle, to a certain percentage of the total number of investment units issued and outstanding. In debt financing, it continues financing with the aim of staggering repayment dates while closely monitoring interest rate trend. JCR will monitor DLR's leverage control aimed at maintaining financial soundness, as well as initiatives to further stabilize its financial base.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
