

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

OKAYA & CO., LTD. (security code: 7485)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) OKAYA & CO., LTD. (the "Company") is a well-established trading firm founded in 1669 and has strong business bases primarily in the Chubu area. It deals with many blue-chip customers in the automobile-related industries, including the Toyota Group, and makes stable transactions. Beside mainstay Iron & Steel and Industrial Machinery & Materials, it also operates the Information & Electronics and Living Related Products segments, thereby diversifying earnings sources. It also has business bases in Asia, Europe and North America.
- (2) The profit level has risen, and the Company is expected to ensure certain profits in the future as well. Partly backed by higher raw material and fuel prices, steel prices will likely hover in a high price range and continue to boost the profits of the Iron & Steel segment. Demand for automotive products is weakening due to semiconductor and component shortages; however, it is expected to recover over the medium term. As the auto manufacturers seem to continue active capital investments for advancing the electrification of automobiles and penetration of automated driving, transaction value of the Industrial Machinery & Materials segment will likely increase. The financial standing remains at a good level. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending February 2023 (FY2022), the Company projects an ordinary income of 30.5 billion yen, up 8.8% over the year, expecting to renew a record-high for two consecutive fiscal years. This is mainly because of rising steel prices and strong sales of electronic components and other products. For FY2023, the Company's overall performance may become weakened as demand will enter an adjustment phase for the Iron & Steel and Information & Electronics segments caused by economic slowdown, etc. That said, JCR views that the profit level will rise from a medium term perspective through increasing sales volume of electromagnetic steel sheets, nonferrous metals and electronic components along with advancement of electrification of automobiles.
- (4) Equity ratio as at the end of the third quarter of FY2022 slightly deteriorated to 41.6% from 44.5% as at the end of FY2021. Backed partly by rising steel market conditions, a burden of working capital requirements rose and interest-bearing debt increased. Steel prices are expected to remain high for the time being; therefore, a reduction in working capital requirements will unlikely be expected. On the other hand, JCR views that the financial soundness will likely be maintained assuming equity capital will continue to grow along with profit accumulations.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.
