

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Kanadevia Corporation (security code: 7004)
(formerly Hitachi Zosen Corporation)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A-
Subordinated Loan: BBB

Rationale

- (1) Kanadevia Corporation (the “Company”) is a comprehensive heavy machinery manufacturer that mainly offers EPC (Engineering, Procurement and Construction), maintenance and operation services for waste incineration facilities. The Company develops businesses in domain such as the core Environment segment, the Machinery & Infrastructure segment, and the Carbon Neutral Solution segment. The Company has established a top-class position domestically in waste incineration facilities, with continuous businesses, such as AOM (After-sales service, Operation and Maintenance) and long-term operation contracts, providing stable revenue sources. Under its umbrella, it owns Kanadevia Inova AG (“Inova”), which holds the largest share in the European waste incineration power generation market. In February 2022, the Company acquired Steinmüller Babcock Environment GmbH, which was ranked third in market share, and has since then acquired companies engaged in operations and services related to waste incineration and biogas. On the other hand, in the process of optimizing its business portfolio, the Company divested H&F Corporation which was involved in the press business, in May 2025.
- (2) There is no change in the solid business base centered on the Environment segment. The domestic Environment segment can continue to expect stable profit from the continuous businesses. The consolidated subsidiary Inova maintains strong competitiveness in Europe and the Middle East, and the performance is expected to remain solid mainly in the EPC business going forward. In addition, as the Company is also working on strengthening the continuous businesses, a certain level of profit can be secured in the businesses as well. On the other hand, while there is a high likelihood that proactive investments will continue, the Company will likely be able to maintain the current level of financial structure for the time being. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income for the fiscal year ending March 2026 (FY2025) is projected to be 27 billion yen (a 0.2% year-on-year increase), marking the eighth consecutive period of increased income. The domestic Environment segment is expected to see a decline in income due to the end of highly profitable projects in the continuous businesses, but Inova’s EPC business and the continuous businesses are both likely to see higher income. Additionally, the Machinery & Infrastructure segment as well as the Carbon Neutral Solution segment are also assumed to secure a certain level of income. Orders received remain robust at present, and reasonable operating income is expected for FY2026 too. Meanwhile, since the announcement of improper conduct related to marine engines in July 2024, multiple similar cases have been identified in other businesses as well. JCR will continue to follow up on the impact of these events on the business performance.
- (4) The equity ratio (after considering the equity content of the subordinated loans) at the end of FY2024 was 32.7% (32.4% at the end of FY2023), and the D/E ratio was 0.63x (0.47x). Interest-bearing debt increased significantly amid continued proactive investments such as M&A. A considerable amount of investment is also planned for FY2025, and interest-bearing debt is likely to increase further toward the period end. Furthermore, proactive investments are expected to continue toward the creation and expansion of growth businesses such as the biogas business over the medium to long term. However, since an increase in equity through retained earnings and other factors is also assumed, it is considered possible to maintain and improve the financial structure.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. possibly as much as a few notches if the development is rapid in improvement or deterioration of the issuer's financial grounds and/ or asset quality on some drastic change in its business bases.

JCR assumes the resultant change of the credit rating is most likely by a notch. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

E) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the prospects of general economy and markets.
