

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

SINANEN HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 8132)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) SINANEN HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (the "Company") is the pure holding company of the SINANEN HOLDINGS Group (the "Group"). It administers the management of group companies as one of its functions, and, given their strong unity, the ratings reflect the Group's overall creditworthiness. Sales volume of its core products, LP gas and kerosene, is one of the largest in Japan. The Company also engages in wide-ranging businesses, including the sale of bicycles, bicycle sharing, environment and recycling, production and sale of antimicrobial agents, system development and building maintenance/management. Looking ahead, it plans to also expand businesses other than petroleum and gas, including new businesses.
- (2) The Company saw its performance deteriorate drastically for two years in a row mainly because of a decline in the profitability of the electric power sales business. In the fiscal year ended March 2024 (FY2023), the sales volume of LP gas decreased, and so did profits from the sale of petroleum products to corporations, making the Company report its first operating loss since it started announcing consolidated results. The Company will likely attain operating income again from FY2024 onwards as it has changed the business structure to minimize loss risks in electric power sales. Moreover, although net loss in FY2023 resulted in the impairment of equity capital, the financial structure deteriorated only marginally. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the ratings on the Company and retained the Stable outlook. That said, if business recovery becomes sluggish going forward, downward pressure on the ratings will increase.
- (3) Ordinary profit for FY2024 is forecast at 3.1 billion yen with year-on-year growth of 3.0 billion yen, the first increase in three years. Besides profitability improvement for the electric power sales business, the sales of LP gas and related equipment are also expected to increase. Overall performance will likely remain strong into FY2025 and beyond, helped by the sales of LP gas, kerosene and other products. Yet, the sales volume of LP gas and kerosene has been sluggish in recent years partly because of warm winters and is hardly likely to rise sharply even in the future. The income/expense situation for the electric power sales business and the medium- to long-term business structure also need to be monitored.
- (4) Equity ratio as of March 31, 2024 was 49.1%, falling slightly from 52.9% a year before but still remaining at a good level. Under the 3rd Medium-Term Management Plan launched in FY2023, the Company intends to spend as much as 50 billion yen over the course of five years but is falling behind the schedule for such investments. Therefore, JCR assumes that its financial position will not be greatly affected for the time being.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly.
