

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

THE TOWA BANK, LTD. (security code: 8558)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) THE TOWA BANK, LTD. (the "Bank") is a regional bank II headquartered in Maebashi City, Gunma Prefecture with a fund volume of around 2.1 trillion yen, mainly operating in Gunma and Saitama prefectures. Factors supporting its rating include: certain business bases established in these two prefectures, centering on transactions with SMEs; and decent earnings capacity and capital level. Top-line revenue is expected to remain strong, but the fundamental earnings capacity is most likely to decline temporarily due in part to system investments aimed at medium-term growth. JCR will watch whether the Bank can improve adjusted core capital ratio by improving the earnings capacity through the enhancement of the sales system and other measures.
- (2) Core net business income (excluding gains on cancellation of investment trusts, etc.; hereinafter the same) has been solid, with ROA based on this income constantly topping 0.2%. Overall performance is underpinned by such factors as an increase in fee revenue from the origination of loans to corporations and cost reductions through the optimization of the branch network. However, core net business income is expected to fall by more than 20% from the previous year in the fiscal year ending March 2025 (FY2024). Yet, because the primary factor behind this fall is growth in expenses associated with system investments aimed at the efficient operation of sales offices, JCR assumes that, from the medium-term perspective, the Bank will be able to work out sales workforce allocation and reduce costs in the end. JCR also predicts that the enhancement of SME lending as a priority challenge and a rise in yen market interest rates will contribute to an increase in loan interest.
- (3) Credit costs grew in FY2021 due primarily to the reclassification of specific large borrowers into lower categories but have been staying low since then. That said, there are not a few other debtors requiring caution who are left with large uncovered claims, thus requiring careful consideration in balancing credit costs and core net business income. In terms of securities investment, the Bank maintains a portfolio mainly consisting of yen-interest assets. Although it has been working to reduce the outstanding balance, the amount of interest rate risk from securities holdings is somewhat large because of long duration. Unrealized losses on available-for-sale securities are not small relative to capital. As the Bank plans to increase bond holdings in the face of rising yen market interest rates, future developments will be closely watched.
- (4) Consolidated core capital ratio as of March 31, 2024 was 10.06%. The remaining public funds of 15 billion yen were acquired as treasury stock in May 2024, which was then retired. Although core capital ratio has dropped as a result, this does not affect the assessment of capital adequacy as JCR has conservatively evaluated the equity content of the Bank's public funds. Core capital ratio adjusted for unrealized losses on available-for-sale securities, etc. stands decent at around 7.5%.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
