

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

OKUMURA CORPORATION (security code: 1833)

<Assignment>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable
Shelf Registration: Preliminary A-

Rationale

- (1) OKUMURA CORPORATION (the “Company”) is a general contractor founded in 1907. It has principles of steadfast management and sincere operation as the management philosophy. It excels in tunnel technology and seismic isolation technology and has a wealth of track records of civil engineering constructions including roads and railways, and building constructions such as warehouses/distribution facilities, plants/power plants, offices/government buildings. It has business foundation in Kansai region where it locates the headquarters, but since the past, it has been making efforts on sales activities in Tokyo metropolitan area where sufficient demand comes from. Kanto region accounts for the highest composition ratio of order intake by region. In July 2024, there was an accident that is considered to be a dust explosion at the Ishikari Shinko biomass power generation equipment, Hokkaido operated by the Company’s consolidated subsidiary. Following this, it plans to resume a full scale commercial operation in April 2026 through advancing restoration work as well as facility modification work related to prevent recurrence.
- (2) Although profitability deteriorated for some constructions of civil engineering and there were impacts of the incident at Ishikari Shinko biomass power generation equipment, the performance appears to recover over the medium-term. The Company has affluent order backlog and profitability of building construction is also in an improvement trend through thoroughly conducting order receiving activities focusing on profitability. Furthermore, it has sound financial structure. It recorded an impairment loss for the above-mentioned power generation equipment and others for the fiscal year ended March 2025 (FY2024), but the impact on financial structure was limited. In the medium-term business plan (FY2025-FY2027), the Company intends to strengthen growth investment and maintain a high level of returning profits to shareholders, but considering the performance forecast in the future, it will probably be able to maintain financial soundness. Based on the above, JCR has assigned an A-long-term issuer rating to the Company with a Stable outlook.
- (3) For FY2024, operating profit was 9.7 billion yen, down 29.0% from the previous fiscal year, dipped below the 10 billion yen level for the first time in nine fiscal years. This is mainly because of the explosion of the Ishikari Shinko biomass power generation equipment in the investment development business. This profit for FY2025 is projected to grow for the first time in two fiscal years to 15.2 billion yen, up 56.2% from the previous fiscal year. Steady progress in constructions on hand can be expected for both the civil engineering and building businesses. Furthermore, in the investment development business, a burden of depreciation expense decreased following the recording of impairment loss for the said power generation equipment in FY2024, the amount of deficit is considered to shrink.
- (4) As at the end of FY2024, equity-to-asset ratio was 45.1% and net DER was 0.23x, which somewhat deteriorated from 49.0% and 0.07x respectively a year before, but still remain at sound levels. As for trade receivables, which account for 50% of the assets, there are no particular concerns over the credit standing of the customers. The Company has a reasonable amount of equity capital as a buffer for financial risk as indicated that it was 177.2 billion yen as at the end of FY2024 as opposed to 188.6 billion yen a year before.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
